Residence and tax A company is resident if it has been incorporated in Denmark or if the place of system	effective management is in Denmark. A territorial income condition applies for resident companies. Generally speaking, income from permanent establishments and foreign property is not included in a company's taxable income. However, the worldwide tax liability applies: if a group has opted for international joint taxation (see below); if there is a Controlled Foreign Company (CFC) tax liability (see below). The following are also subject to taxation: international shipping and air transport activities; foreign dividends, interest and royalties.

Compliance requirements for CIT purposes	Filing of : CIT return, appendix to tax return concerning controlled transactions (if applicable) and of Tax Statements (if applicable), assessment of joint taxable income (if applicable) and group structure chart (if applicable). On account CIT payments are due on March 20 and November 20.
Tax rate	The standard corporate income tax rate is 23.5 percent (2015). The rate will be 22 percent from 2016.
Withholding tax rates	On dividends paid to non-resident companies The general WHT rate is 27 percent. Under most tax treaties the rate is reduced to 15 percent by reclaim. Reduction at source for non-Danish entities is only available when the parent-sub directive applies in which case the participation exemption implies that no WHT is due (0 rate). Please refer below section. On interest paid to non-resident companies As a general rule no WHT on interest payments applies. However, a 25 percent WHT applies to interest payments on "controlled debts". On patent royalties and certain copyright royalties paid to non-resident companies 25 percent / possible exemption On fees for technical services No On other payments No Branch withholding taxes No
Holding rules	Dividend received from resident/non-resident subsidiaries Exemption (100 percent) applies to dividends from subsidiary shares (10 percent or more participation and the subsidiary is located in an EU or treaty country) and to dividends from group company shares (majority of votes).

Capital gains obtained from resident/non-resident subsidiaries

Exemption if realized on subsidiary shares and group company shares (conditions as for dividend exemption). From 2013 exemption also applies to qualified non-listed shares regardless of ownership share.

Tax losses

Losses from a business activity can be offset against positive income and may be carried forward indefinitely. A change in ownership (more than 50 percent) may restrict this so that the losses may not be used to reduce the taxable income below the net income from capital.

Losses carried forward from previous years exceeding DKK 7.5 million can only be used to reduce future income with 60 percent.

Tax consolidation rules/Group relief rules

Joint taxation is mandatory for Danish group companies, Danish PEs, and Danish property. Group relation exists if the ultimate owner of more than one Danish entity holds more than 50 percent of the equity or voting rights of the Danish entity.

International joint taxation continues to be optional.

Where it is elected, all foreign and Danish group companies and PEs/property must be included in the international joint taxation. This also applies to foreign parent/related companies.

The value of foreign tax losses deducted in Danish international taxation will be added to a balance of account (retaxation balance). Generally, the election for international joint taxation will be binding for a period of 10 years. If the joint taxation is discontinued during this period, the retaxation balance will be subject to full retaxation. If the joint taxation is discontinued at the end of the 10-year period, the amount subject to retaxation is calculated on the basis of a fictitious liquidation profit, maximized to the tax value of the losses deducted.

Foreign taxes paid by subsidiaries participating in international joint taxation can be offset against Danish taxes using the credit method. This applies irrespective of possible exemption provisions in a double tax treaty.
